

Eric R. Carlson, DMD, MD, FACS

Topics: Current Concepts in Benign Jaw Pathology – 2010

The Ameloblastoma: Primary, Curative Surgical Management

The Role of Surgical Resection in the Management of Bisphosphonate-Related Osteonecrosis of the Jaws

Bisphosphonate-Related Osteonecrosis of the Jaws / An Old Disease With a New Drug?

Biographical sketch

Current position: Professor and Chairman
Department of Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery
Director of Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery Residency program
University of Tennessee Medical Center, Knoxville and the University of Tennessee Cancer Institute

Education:
Undergraduate – Connecticut College
Dental School – University of Pennsylvania
Medical School – University of Miami
Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery Residency – Allegheny General Hospital
Fellowship – University of Miami/Jackson Memorial Hospital
General Surgery Internship – University of Tennessee

Clinical expertise: Oral/head and neck tumor surgery

We will begin with breakfast at 7:30 and presentations from 8:00 – 11:30 AM
1600 SW Archer Road, Dental Tower, 3rd Floor, D3-3
University of Florida College of Dentistry