

Fall 2012 Course Announcement

PHA 6935 Current Topics on Global Health Disparities

Course Information:

Graduate & Professional Course (3 Credit Hours; Class size limited to 15)
Class Time – Tuesdays, 6:30 – 9:30pm (Webinar/Telecast)
Research Discussion - Tuesdays, 5:00 – 6:00pm (Elluminate Live)

** This global course is offered simultaneously at multiple institutions.

Sample Course Topics:

Racial, Ethnic and Gender Health Disparities ** Alternative Approaches to Racial Models in Health Disparities Research ** Understanding the Role of Pharmacotherapy in Racial and Ethnic Health Disparities ** Making Changes Cross-Cultural Deliberation About Racism and Health ** Sexual & Reproductive Health Disparities Experienced by People With Disabilities ** The Genetics of Prostate Cancer in African Populations ** Genetic Education for Native Americans ** Exploring the Complex Dynamics of Health Disparities in U.S. Latinos/Hispanics ** Assessing and Addressing Asian American Health ** Reflections on Global Health Disparities: Looking in the Mirror

Course Coordinator

Folakemi T. Odedina, PhD (Professor, College of Pharmacy)

For more information, contact:

Shannon Pressey, MS at 352.273.7492 or spressey@cop.ufl.edu

“Of all the forms of inequality, injustice in health care is the most shocking and inhumane...”

-Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr